British Accept U. S. Debt Funding Plan

LONDON, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Great Britain has decided to accept the American offer in regard to the funding of the British war debt to the United States.

The government's decision was reached at a cabinet meeting this afternoon. There was a full attendance of the ministers and apparently they entered the meeting with the decision already formed to follow the recommendation of the chancellor of the exchequer as the session lasted only a few minutes.

The terms are three per cent for ten years and three and one-half per cent thereafter. No reservation was made regarding Great Britain's being allowed to pay the total sum after the ten year period.

To Change Funding Regulations

WASHINGTON, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The British decision to accept the American debt funding suggestions was said today by Secretary Mellon to open the way for immediate drafting of recommendations to the president for changes in the funding law to legalize the terms suggested in the American proposal.

While the secretary explained that no move would be made by the American commission pending receipt of official notification of the decision which must come through the British embassy, he explained that the American commission was in a position to begin at once an outline of details which the president could transmit to congress.

The nature of the recommendation which the commission may make was not disclosed, but indications were that a broadening of the commission's authority would be requested so that it could carry the negotiations to an early conclusion.

Mr. Mellon who is chairman of the commission declined to discuss details of the plan further than to say that provision was made for an interest rate of three per cent for the first ten years and 3 1/2 per cent up to the end of 62 years. The interest rate for the time since the loans were made to the actual beginning of the funding arrangement would be 4 1/4 per cent instead of the five per cent rate now in effect.

The secretary explained that he did not feel at liberty to make public all details of the American suggestions because lacking official advice, it was not known whether the plan was accepted in its entirety or whether minor changes would be asked by the British government. Many of these changes, it was said, might have a bearing on important questions such as the interest rates and its methods of payment. It is understood that the British delegation informed the American commission of their government's wish to deposit with the treasury here international bonds of the British government which would be retired serially under the settlement plan.

MILEAGE BOOKS PUT BACK ON RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Railroads were ordered today by the interstate commerce commission to resume the practice of selling interchangeable mileage books good for 2,500 miles of travel at reductions of 20 per cent from the regular passenger rates.

Sale of the books must begin March 1st, the commission decided. A number of small railroads were excluded from requirements of the order because of their financial inability to meet the condition. Practically all of the class one roads however, must establish the reductions.

Re-establishment of the mileage book system, abandoned during the war, resulted from passage of a bill of Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana.

The commission noted the general business opinion was that the reduction would result in a greater number of salesmen going out on the road and an increase in the amount of travel by those now engaged as salesmen.

The sale of the books will be open to all desiring them.

Overcomes Heat Problem

NEW YORK, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Cool shortage in Brooklyn intensified by a record snow fall for January, made Edward J. Kennedy think a lot. He told friends today he had overcome the heating problem.

He took a trench hat, bored a hole in the top, then wired a tin can inside of it and attached the hat to a rack over an oil lamp. When the metal got hot, it is said the heat was sufficient to warm an entire room.

From News Girl To Asst. City Attorney

SAN FRANCISCO, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Mary Rantz Schwab, who thirty years ago visualized America as "the promised land," upon her arrival here from Russia as an immigrant, was sworn in as the first woman to serve in the city attorney's office today.

From news girl, salesgirl, factory worker and stenographer to lawyer is the road which led Mrs. Schwab to the assistant city attorneyship.

France Turns Tables On Britain For Failure To Support Ruhr Move

(By The United Press)

The Entente was split today. Franco-British unity was further disintegrated by French support of Turkey at Lausanne and the British government, surprised and angry, prepared to defend its Near East single handed.

Just as Great Britain refused to back a French ultimatum to Germany, when Premier Poincare wanted a solid allied front to enforce reparations, so the French told the Turks Marquis Curzon's ultimatum at Lausanne need not apply as between France and Turkey.

The peace treaty was formally presented to the Ottoman delegates but it no longer was backed by allied solidarity.

Events in the Ruhr and Rhineland—further imposition of martial law and fresh troop movements with artillery into the Essen district—were completely overshadowed by this situation.

Turkey lost no time in taking advantage of the split in the Entente.

Ignoring Curzon's ultimatum which called for definite acceptance or rejection of the allied terms today, Ismet Pasha calmly asked a fortnight's delay.

Confusion among the conferees followed.

Italy appeared inclined to support France.

The British delegates were at a loss as to what to do next.

Unrest in Constantinople, as the treaty terms were made public, was followed by announcement that the British war office that Britain would evacuate the city, if necessary, confident of being able to defend the strait and Mosul.

Great Britain was finally forced to agree to postponement of final decision on the treaty. Marquis Curzon told the Turks they could have till Sunday but intimated he would remain at Lausanne till next week.

250 GERMAN MINERS TRAPPED

BERLIN, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Fire damp following an explosion has cut off 250 miners in the Heiligt mine at Beuthen, Polish Silesia, says a Central News message. Several bodies have been recovered. There is little hope the message adds, of saving any of the imprisoned miners.

"Poillen Sisters" Held On A Charge Of Larceny

NEW YORK, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Charlotte Pollen and her sister, Mrs. Katherine P. Smith, known to the police for a decade or more as the Pollen sisters, were today arrested on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by Charles H. Duessenberg, 73, who says he was engaged to marry Katherine. According to the complaint, Duessenberg sought the hand of Katherine, who is 31 years old, and before she accepted, Charlotte told him she wanted proof of his ability to support her sister. Duessenberg thereupon produced stock certificates worth $50,000 and the sisters said they wanted to show them to her parents, who lived up state. Duessenberg consented and that was the last he saw of the certificates.

After waiting a reasonable time, he told the district attorney's office about it, an indictment resulted and a warrant was issued. The sisters have figured frequently in the newspapers.

Katherine got the first notoriety by knocking out a man who had spoken to her without an introduction.

In 1903 Katherine brought suit for $250,000 against William Gould Binkay, alleging breach of promise to marry, but the case was settled for $17,000 before it went to a jury. Then she sued her lawyers, alleging that they had taken too much of the settlement money. In 1913 they were sent to Blackwell's Island for three months for defrauding a hotel out of $50.

In 1915 they came into public notice again when it was found that the alleged German spy, Raymond Ralph Swoboda had lived in their apartment in Riverside Drive. In 1920 they aided detectives in trapping a man who was charged with being implicated in the theft of jewelry from Enrico Caruso's home, and received part of the $10,000 reward for the recovery of the gems.

Arbuckle To Be Director

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Roscoe Arbuckle today is preparing to attempt his comeback along the new line he announced yesterday—that of a motion picture director. He said he had signed a contract, to direct comedies for a new company for which incorporation papers were filed at Trenton, N. J., yesterday by Edgar Mannix and J. Thomas Connors, of Los Angeles.

He issued a signed statement in which he declared he was "done with acting" and that in the role of a director, there was "a chance to make good in the right way."

After Will H. Hays, titular head of the motion picture industry, announced just before Christmas that Arbuckle whose career was halted by his three trials for manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, screen actress, was to have "another chance," the fat comedian detailed plans for appearing again before the camera.

Protest from numerous sources from all parts of the country, quickly were recorded.

France To Employ More Drastic Measures Against The Germans

Postoffice Bandit Held

TOLEDO, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Nathan Otterbeck, alias James Colson, the last member of the gang that held up and robbed the Toledo post office of more than $1,000,000 on February 17, 1921, is under arrest in Davenport, Ia., according to word received by Federal officials here today.

Joe Urbaytis, alleged leader of the band who escaped from the Lucas county jail on Labor Day, 1921, following his conviction of a charge of conspiracy in connection with the case, is still at liberty.

Charles Schultz, James Sanzone and George Rogers are serving sentences in the federal penitentiary, and Eddie O'Brien, fifth member of the band captured in Los Angeles, several months ago, is awaiting trial in connection with the case.

TO PRESENT ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY

BRUSSELS, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Belgium and France will present to the German government in Berlin at six o'clock tonight an ultimatum demanding for the last time that Germany fulfill the reparations program and execute the treaty of Versailles, it was announced here this afternoon.

TO TIGHTEN HOLD AROUND RUHR

PARIS, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—France and Belgium will tighten their hold around the Ruhr Valley tomorrow and shut off shipments of coal and coke to unoccupied Germany. This decision will be announced to Germany this evening at Berlin by the French and Belgian ambassadors.

LITHUANIANS TO GET STRONG NOTE

PARIS, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—A strong note, equivalent to an ultimatum was completed by the council of ambassadors today and will be sent to Lithuania demanding within a fixed time all the Lithuanian troops and irregulars be withdrawn from the Baltic district of Memel.

"Army Men" Bandits Are Captured; Loot Recovered

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Jan. 31.—Charged with the daring holdup robbery of a $43,000 army payroll in front of the First National Bank at Hampton yesterday, Corporals John Wood and James Harvey were held under military guard at Langley Field today pending decision as to whether they will be tried before a civil or military court. It appeared probable that the two men who were said to have had in their possession a greater portion of the money taken when they were arrested last night, would be brought before a court martial.

Of the amount missing, the exact total of which had not been announced, $3,000 of it was said to have been silver contained in a bag for which search was being continued today. When arrested the men were said to have had the notes, comprising most of the money taken, concealed in their pockets, the lining of their clothing and their shoes.

The two alleged bandits offered no resistance to their arrest. They were joking two negroes when found. They groans stated afterwards they had just agreed to drive Wood and Harvey, who said they had lost their way in the woods while hunting, to Newport News.

It is not always the men who are a romantic. At times the women exhibit the practical nature. I've illustrated this often in my speeches with this story:

Josephus and Samantha were lovers. They sat under an apple tree in the early summer—the day was balmy and a soft wind blew.

"Ah, Samantha," breathed Josephus in a rapt voice, "listen to the zephyr as it rustles gently through the branches and hear how the trees moan and sigh and sigh and moan melodiously in the breeze."

Samantha looked up brightly into her lover's eyes.

"Well, Josephus," she remarked, "I guess if you were as full of green apples as those trees are, you'd sigh and moan and moan and sigh a lot too."

Mayor Warned To Leave

MONROE, LA., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Federal authorities probably will be asked to take some action in connection with the receipt of a threatening letter by Robert L. Dade, mayor of Mer Rouge, in which the mayor was warned to leave the town within ten days or "become a corpse" it became known here today.

The communication, dated January 28 and signed "Law Abiding," bore a Hot Springs, Ark., postmark. It was intimated that the state authorities would call the letter to the attention of the department of justice agents still in Morehouse Parish gathering evidence in connection with last summer's kidnappings which culminated in the death of Watt Daniel and T. F. Richards of Mer Rouge on August 24.

Drug Habit Leads Student To Attempt To Kill Self

* CHICAGO, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—George E. P. Roth, 18-year-old high school senior, today was in a hospital here said by physicians to be near death from a bullet wound self-inflicted because, he told his father, he had formed an unconquerable drug habit that had forced him from school and denied him the privilege of graduating with his class tomorrow.

He told his father that he bought the drugs from a youth who stood outside the high school and peddled to high school girls and boys. Police immediately started a search for the peddler.

Last October, Roth said, he virtually ceased attending school, but managed to hide the fact from his parents by forging a report card. The craving for drugs, he said, made it impossible for him to concentrate on his studies.

"But I went around to the school every day and bought my dope," he explained, adding he used money taken from his father's pockets.

But that means of obtaining money he said, soon proved inadequate to meet his growing desire for drugs.

"And tomorrow the old class graduates," he said, "and I won't be there."

Armed with his father's revolver, Roth told how he departed from home "to kill the dope peddler that had started me out and then I intended to kill myself." But he did not find the peddler and early today shot himself.

Actress' Suits To Be Heard

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Trial of a suit for $30,000 brought by George Edwin Joseph, New York attorney, against Pauline Frederick, actress of stage and screen, and of her cross suit for $40,047 against Joseph was on the calendar to open in the superior court here today.

Joseph's suit alleges the actress owes $30,000 as a fixed percentage of her earnings on a contract obtained for her with a motion picture company.

Miss Frederick, now in the east, asserts that of the $46,047 she seeks from Joseph, $16,800 is due for professional services not detailed; $10,000 represents a sum she turned over to him to invest in Liberty bonds for her and $5,947 is an amount he collected for her but has not paid over.

China, its needs today, as viewed by an American and a representative Christian and its rapid progress in culture and education were pictured strikingly Tuesday evening at the Second Presbyterian church by Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, D. D., one of the leading figures of the Presbyterian church in the United States and secretary of the New Era Movement. He emphasized the need of Christian leadership throughout China.

Members of the Second Presbyterian Brotherhood, ladies of the church, officials and pastors of other churches both in Portsmouth and nearby towns, enjoyed every minute of Rev. Foulkes' address which followed a most splendid banquet served by the good ladies of the Second church under the leadership of Mrs. Isabella Thomas and Mrs. John Williams.

The problem in China is not one of taxes, high cost of living, auto rides and continuous pleasure but one of getting enough to eat, avoid starvation, said Rev. Foulkes. This condition, according to the speaker, can not be attributed to the present generation but is the culmination of mistakes of past generations in their methods of wrong thinking and doing.

But China is waking up. It will be one of the greatest countries of the

If Skin Breaks
Out And Itches
Apply Sulphur

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken skin, the itching stops and healing begins says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Advertisement.

Many Celebrities in "Quincy Adams Sawyer," Delightful Film At Eastland Theatre

"Quincy Adams Sawyer," which was seen for the first time yesterday at the Eastland Theatre, is in many ways a remarkable photoplay. It has all the elements which go to make a thoroughly interesting motion picture, and the large audiences yesterday greeted it with unmistakable enthusiasm. It is safe to say that the screen version of this sensational popular novel is going to prove one of the best-loved pictures of the year.

The story is concerned with the adventures of the young Boston lawyer, Quincy, when he comes to Mason's Corner to clear up a legal matter. He wins the affections of the town's women-folk, but he incurs the enmity of the local czar, Obadiah Strout. It is the conflict between Quincy and Strout which forms the main motive of the story, but there are many unusual and comic situations as well.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" was directed by Clarence G. Badger. It is based on the story by Charles Felton Pidgin. The screen version is the work of Bernard McConville. The film is a Metro-SL attraction.

Bills Given Hearings Before Special Committees

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—With only minor bills on their calendars for consideration, both branches of the legislature were prepared to spend as much time again today as yesterday in committee consideration of bills.

The senate public utilities committee again will hear arguments on the Bondar bill which seeks to abolish the public utilities commission and confer the rate making authority on municipalities and the courts. This committee also is to consider bill by Senator Pence, Highland county, which would prevent public utilities from collecting increased rates until the question of increase had been finally adjudicated by the courts.

Under the present law, the state utilities commission may permit the utility to collect the advanced rates pending litigation by giving bond for return of any excess not approved by the courts. The only bill on the house calendar of outstanding importance is the "padding" bill which would write into the Ohio statutes the provision of the Volstead law giving courts the right to lock up places where intoxicating liquors are sold illegally after they have been declared a nuisance. Inasmuch as there are a number of members absent, however, there is said to be some doubt of the bill coming to a vote today.

Representative Harding, Warren county, says he will not bring his Ku Klux Klan bill up before next week. Late yesterday opponents of this bill tried to force a vote on it over the author's objection, but lost in their effort by a vote of 50 to 37.

After voting 28 to 5 yesterday against memorializing President Harding to call an international economic conference as provided in a resolution by Senator Burke, Republican, Lorain, the senate adopted a counter resolution proposed by Senator Jenkins, Republican, Lawrence county, approving the president's foreign policy. The Jenkins resolution was adopted without a roll call, there being no negative votes cast, but Democratic members refraining from voting.

More definite delineation of school districts now receiving state aid funds and the cutting down of the number of districts receiving state aid was expected to grow out of a senate finance committee hearing last night on the bill of Senator Jenkins which would appropriate $1,250,000 from the state general fund for the satisfying of a deficit in the monies available for such districts. State Auditor Trew and Director of Education Biogel, both of whom appeared before the committee, will co-operate with Senator Atwood, the committee chairman to remedy the situation, which is said to result in the furnishing of state aid funds for districts in rich counties which qualify for the receipt of the funds.

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Proponents and opponents of the minimum wage for women and children, arrayed themselves before the senate labor committee last night at a hearing on the Burke bill which would establish a minimum wage commission which, through hearings, might establish a minimum wage for any industry on petition of fifty employees.

Those favoring the law, including representatives of many women's organizations, declared that at present many women were employed at wages upon which they could not live properly. Charity was forced to make up the difference between their wages and living expenses, it was said, and this would be eliminated if the law were passed. Not only employees, but employers and the consumer would benefit from the legislation, it was said. The average wage of 32,208 women employed in 41 Ohio cities, according to Miss Wilma Hall, of Cleveland, is $13.06 a week, not sufficient to properly sustain them.

Representatives who urged defeat of the bill, said that it would be class legislation, would alienate industry from the state because of its requirements, would destroy competition and place all employees on the one level and result in higher prices. The law had not been a success in other states they declared.

SOCIETY

Miss Dorothy Cline, accomplished young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cline, Jackson street, delighted an audience of more than 500 in her recital at the First Christian church last evening. The recital, which was given under the auspices of the Loyal Reapers' class of the Bible school, was without a doubt one of the most successful events in the history of the school, not only attesting to the popularity of Miss Cline, but to the work put forth by the Loyal Reapers, whose teacher, Mrs. Gilbert Todd, set a pace in the selling of tickets that enthused every member of the class of young girls.

The platform was beautifully decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and everything attuned to the joys of the occasion. Miss Cline, who elocutionary ability is well known, is a Freshman in the High School, and she performed her part with perfect, while her expression brought delight to her teacher, Miss Pearl Elchberger, who unhesitatingly predicts a brilliant career for Miss Cline, should she select the platform for her life's work. Every selection rendered brought forth applause and there was not the slightest hitch or jar to mar the smoothness of the program. The class is under obligation to not only Miss Cline, but Mrs. Charles Brockman, Miss Bess True, Mrs. Ann Rheinfrank and all others who assisted in making the evening's entertainment such a success.

Mrs. Frank E. Adams entertained with a surprise birthday anniversary dinner last evening at her home, 1906 Baird avenue, for the pleasure of Mr. Adams' mother, Mrs. Anna Adams of Fifth street. The party took the form of an old-fashioned affair, the guests coming attired in quaint and attractive costumes. The dinner was served at six o'clock at a prettily appointed table which had for its central adornment a large white birthday cake, mounted with sixty-five candles, and covers were laid for twenty close friends of the honor guest. The remainder of the evening was spent informally, needlework and various social pastimes adding to the pleasures of the evening.

Mrs. Sarah Little continues very ill at her home, 1012 Third street. Mrs. Burke H. Keeney of Ft. Thomas arrived today for a visit with Miss Emma Johnson of 959 Second street.

Mrs. Joseph S. Hardin and her daughter, Miss Helen Hardin, were delightful entertainers Tuesday afternoon when they presided at a charming bridge-luncheon at their attractive home 1206 Gallia street.

The spacious rooms were beautifully arranged for the occasion, and following the service of a delicious luncheon which was beautifully served at six small tables, the remainder of the afternoon was pleasantly occupied playing bridge. The favors were sweetheart roses. At the conclusion of a series of interesting games, Mrs. Raymond D. York was awarded a handsome prize for high score.

Mrs. Maurice K. Hitebeck of Iron ton, was the only out of town guest.

The Central W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday evening at the home of Miss Mary Helt, 1128 Eighth street. A full attendance is urged.

Charged With Cutting Woman

Wheeler Conley of near Greenup was placed on trial in Greenup Wednesday afternoon charged with the malicious cutting of Mrs. Emma Litteral of Greenup county, an indictment having been returned against Conley by the circuit court which has been in session in Greenup since January 22.

Conley, who was arrested early in December following some trouble with the Litterals, was out on bond since he pleaded not guilty at his examining trial. He had some trouble with the woman's husband and it is claimed that when Conley struck at Mr. Litteral with a knife that Mrs. Litteral jumped in front of her husband and was stabbed in the side.

Whaddy's Mean "Little"
(Jacksonville, Times-Union)
Senator Pepper On The League of Nations is a headline. Well, the League of Nations needs a little "pep."

An arrest in connection with the death of Nathan King, well known resident of King's Addition east of Fullerton, who died December 22 as the result of a blow on the head on December 12, was made at Columbus Tuesday when John Eatherly, son-in-law of King, was taken into custody by the officers there for Greenup county authorities. Sheriff W. S. Sturgill of Greenup left for Columbus early Wednesday morning to bring back Eatherly to answer to an indictment charging willful murder.

At the time of King's death no arrest was made, Eatherly claiming that he had acted in self defense. The stock of a Winchester rifle was used by Eatherly it is claimed when he dealt Mr. King a blow on the head following a quarrel over domestic trouble. Deputy Sheriff J. R. Shepherd of Fullerton made an investigation of the trouble and several days ago when the Greenup county circuit court started its regular session at Greenup laid all his facts before County Attorney Glenn E. Miller who presented them to the grand jury.

Mrs. Nathan King and other relatives were also called before the jury with the result that an indictment was returned against Eatherly. Deputy Shepherd kept close watch on Eatherly after completing his investigation. About eight days ago when the relatives were called to Greenup, Eatherly, Deputy Shepherd says, left King's Addition without telling anyone of his destination. Deputy Shepherd traced him however, and finally located him in Columbus where the arrest was made Tuesday. Eatherly is 30 years old and according to telegraphic information from Columbus he told the police there he was wanted for killing his father-in-law during a fight they had over domestic affairs.

According to Deputy Shepherd, his investigation showed that Mr. King must have been sitting in a chair when struck over the head. During his conscious moments several days after December 12, Mr. King is said to have remarked that the last thing he could remember was that he was sitting in a chair. He claimed he did not remember having any trouble with Eatherly. Eatherly had called at the home of his father-in-law, about a half mile from his own home, to borrow a sack of corn and he was at the house when relatives left for church that evening, it is claimed.

As soon as word was received at Greenup last night that Eatherly was under arrest, and was willing to return to Greenup county without extradition papers, Sheriff Sturgill made his plans to go after him.

Eatherly, it is said, does not deny striking his father-in-law but claims that it was in self defense.

PLAN FOR NEW HOTEL

Possibilities of Portsmouth securing a modern hotel of 100 transient rooms, a business room on Gallia street and two business rooms on Gay street seemed bright Wednesday when it was learned that Architects Devos and Donaldson have virtually completed a preliminary sketch for the proposed project and that other details are being rapidly shaped up. If the negotiations for the site are closed the hotel will go up on Dr. Ruggles' property at Sixth and Gay streets and on his Gallia street property just east of the Heinisch building occupied by Alex M. Glockner, hardware dealer.

The men who will finance the project and operate the hotel are Curtis Malavazos and Harry Chucules. It was learned today that the deal for the site had not been definitely closed, but that it probably would be shortly. It provides for a 64 foot strip of ground on Gay street and 12 1/2 feet on Sixth street. The Gallia street strip owned by Dr. Ruggles extends 122 feet through to Sixth.

The two pieces of ground would furnish an ideal site for a hotel and the proposed builders say they are ready to go ahead it is learned just as soon as negotiations for the ground are closed.

Malavazos and Chucules have also optioned George Ahrend's three story brick building on Gallia street just east of the Ruggles property and it is possible that it will be included in the hotel site. If it is the history would then have from 125 to 150 transient rooms with two business rooms on Gallia street and two on Gay.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

I have this boy's name and address and if any readers of this column can help him find work I would appreciate it.

Dear Dolly—Will you please give me a sure cure for eczema? And, Dolly, what type of girls are considered the best looking?

Dear Dolly—I live away up here in Michigan and I am writing you for information and advice. Dolly my husband left me on September 20th, while I was still sick in bed and he hasn't been back since. He left my doctor bill for my parents to pay. I understand he is working in the N. & W. shops at Portsmouth but he doesn't send me a cent of money. Now can I make him support me and how much alimony would I be allowed a week. We haven't any children. Now just what do you think of a man like that?

Dear Dolly—I am a married woman with a husband and children and am coming to you for advice. My case is a little different from the average letter you receive, but like all the others there is a "woman in the case." She is one of those "dear" friends who are always dropping in to see you unexpectedly and otherwise. She drops in so often that I fear she is affected with a bad case of the dropsy. I can see that she is head over heels in love with my husband, but I am not supposed to notice or know that. She has a husband of her own and a family to look after, but she neglects them shamefully in order to be on the job at my house. I would love to have a little privacy and spend an evening with my family but this is impossible so long as she is around. I like company but this woman has gotten on my nerves until I can hardly stand it. I would like to let her know the condition of things without hurting her feelings. I know if she would just stop a minute, and think it over she would see that I am thinking less and less of her. I know she likes my husband, but I am not a bit jealous of her as he is as disgusted of her as I am. Now just what would you do to handle a situation like this?

Dear Dolly—I went with a boy for about a year and thought the world of him. He is 21 and I am 20. He went away but recently he has returned to this city and I heard that he had asked a friend of mine to fix things up for him. I have been with him several times but when he leaves me he never makes a date. When I am any place he is right at home in my bunch, but when it is time to leave he is among the missing. He seems to think a lot of me when he is with me but I can't understand his actions. Dolly do you think he is making a fool of me? And should I throw him over?

She is one of those "dear" friends who are always dropping in to see you unexpectedly and otherwise. She drops in so often that I fear she is affected with a bad case of the dropsy. I can see that she is head over heels in love with my husband, but I am not supposed to notice or know that. She has a husband of her own and a family to look after, but she neglects them shamefully in order to be on the job at my house. I would love to have a little privacy and spend an evening with my family but this is impossible so long as she is around. I like company but this woman has gotten on my nerves until I can hardly stand it. I would like to let her know the condition of things without hurting her feelings. I know if she would just stop a minute, and think it over she would see that I am thinking less and less of her. I know she likes my husband, but I am not a bit jealous of her as he is as disgusted of her as I am. Now just what would you do to handle a situation like this?

Dear Dolly—I went with a boy for about a year and thought the world of him. He is 21 and I am 20. He went away but recently he has returned to this city and I heard that he had asked a friend of mine to fix things up for him. I have been with him several times but when he leaves me he never makes a date. When I am any place he is right at home in my bunch, but when it is time to leave he is among the missing. He seems to think a lot of me when he is with me but I can't understand his actions. Dolly do you think he is making a fool of me? And should I throw him over?

Dear Dolly—I am a married woman with a husband and children and am coming to you for advice. My case is a little different from the average letter you receive, but like all the others there is a "woman in the case." She is one of those "dear" friends who are always dropping in to see you unexpectedly and otherwise. She drops in so often that I fear she is affected with a bad case of the dropsy. CHEST COLDS Apply over throat and chest cover with hot flannel cloth. VICKS VAPORUB Over 17 Million Men Used Yearly

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's church, Wheelersburg, this morning, when the pastor, Rev. Thomas Carey, united in marriage Miss Geraldine L. Hyland of Franklin Furnace and Mr. Welby J. Scherer of Haverhill. The ceremony was performed, preceding a nuptial luncheon, celebrated at six o'clock and was witnessed by members of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The attractive young bride was attired in a smart spring suit of dark blue velvet with harmonizing accessories. Her bridal bouquet was a corsage of sweet peas and valley lilies.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seidel.

Immediately after the church service, the bride party were given a charming breakfast at the home of Rev. Thomas Carey. Later in the day they left on a honeymoon trip to Columbus and other places of interest in the northern part of the state. Upon their return they will take up their residence with the bride's parents until the end of the school year, when they will make their future home at Haverhill, Mr. Scherer being a successful farmer of that place. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Scherer of Ironton and finished his education at Ohio State University, Columbus.

Miss Scherer is the only daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. A. J. Hyland of Franklin Furnace, and is a very charming and accomplished young lady. She graduated from the Wheelersburg High School, the Portsmouth High School, and later attended the Ohio State University, Columbus, and Ohio University at Athens. For the past few years she has been a successful teacher, and will finish her term at the Franklin Furnace schools before taking up her residence at Haverhill.

Mrs. Henry Labold was the guest of honor at a family dinner given at twelve o'clock today at her home, 623 Fourth street, in honor of her nineteenth birthday anniversary. The occasion also marked the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Mrs. Emil Longini of Cincinnati, who was present at the dinner. Mrs. Labold had the pleasure of having with her on this delightful occasion her children and grandchildren, and the affair was a very charming and enjoyable one. Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Labold is enjoying fairly good health, and her relatives and friends hope to help her celebrate many more happy birthdays.

Richard and Charles Miller, young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Miller of 1920 Robinson avenue, are ill with the measles.

The West Portsmouth W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Pratt, 617 Front street at two o'clock. A Frances Willard program will be given and a silver offering taken. A large attendance is urged.

The Oldtown Ladies' Aid Society held an all day meeting today at the home of Mrs. D. McNamara of City View. The time was spent in making aprons and home for the Easter sale. A picnic lunch at the noon hour was a delightful feature of the meeting.

The members of the Girls Department of the Second Presbyterian Church are anticipating a delightful time at the celebration of their annual "birthdays," which will be held tomorrow evening in the basement of the church.

The celebration will be in "five acts" the first act starting promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Gertrude Hood arrived home last evening from Ohio Wesleyan University for a week's visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hood, 1144 Third Street.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

THERE are many countries from which theerly-eye superstition and a belief in mischievous spirits never have disappeared.

In southern Arabia, for instance, the bride wears garlic in her turban on her wedding day, lest the evil eye blight her hopes of married happiness.

Wedding parties in Manchuria are preceded by parties of men exploding fire-crackers, on the theory that the racket frightens away malignant spirits.

Mrs. A. R. Reinhardt of Huntington, W. Va., who has been ill at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. T. Ream, of 1119 Second Street, for the past two weeks, is improving.

Miss Francis Hicks is ill with tonsillitis at her home 1322 Lincoln St.

Monday evening Mrs. Marion W. Prosch opened her home, 613 Third Street, to the members of the Whatsoever Guild of All Saints Church, when a winter picnic was enjoyed.

The long dining table was decorated with red hearts and cupid, the center piece being a garden seat placed with trellis work. Dainty place cards marked the places of the members present, who included Mrs. Thos. Ashpaw, Mrs. Roy Evans, Mrs. Wm. A. Moore, Mrs. Carl Doerr, Mrs. John McDaniel, Mrs. Albert Cox, Mrs. R. K. Smith and the Misses Maud Scholl, Florence Scholl, Agnes McMurray, Mary McElmurray, Ruby Musser, Marie Crosby, Charlotte Crosby, Isabel Knauts, Maynard Reed, Adelphe Eymon and Gertrude Allen.

One member, Mrs. Eva Ellwell, was unable to be present.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Franklin Avenue M. L. Church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. D. Kimble, 1802 Summit Street. The assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Edward Bremer, Mrs. Chas. Jittner and Mrs. A. J. Cropper.

Mrs. Russell W. Anderson has issued invitations for a series of bridge parties to be given at her home, 1657 Fifth Street. The first will be on the afternoon of Wednesday, February 7; the second on Thursday afternoon, and the third and last will be on Friday afternoon.

Miss Alice Ketchum, who has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Rex Selby, 1131 Twentieth Street, went to Columbus yesterday afternoon, where she will meet her mother Mrs. G. C. Ketchum, who will join her in a visit with relatives and friends in Anderson, Indiana, before returning to their home at Altoona, Pa.

Mrs. J. W. Winters of 1004 Ninth Street, returned home yesterday afternoon from a four week's visit in Cincinnati. She was accompanied home by her sister, Miss Rose Klunk, who will make an indefinite visit with relatives and friends in this city.

Mrs. W. D. Kimble, of 1802 Summit Street, will be hostess to the members of the Allegro Club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. L. D. Allard who has been ill with grip at her home, 716 Gay Street is improving.

The We-Go Club, composed of the young people of All Saints Church, will give another of their delightful dances on Friday evening, February 9 in the Parish House. The music for the evening will be furnished by a well known colored orchestra and the young people of the club are anticipating a large crowd. The mothers of some of the members will act as chaperones. A good time is in store for all who attend.

The members of the Holmes Club will meet Friday evening with Mrs. Howard Newman, 921 Second Street, with Mrs. Ralph Streich as assistant hostess.

The following interesting program will be presented:
Roll Call—A Current Event.
Famous Italian Pictures and Their Story—Mrs. J. T. Micklethwaite.
Time Telling Through The Ages—Mrs. Isabel Stahler.

The names of the Misses Gladys Graham and Elizabeth Orlett, were unintentionally omitted from the guest list at the theatre party to see "Teg O My Heart" at the Sun Theatre, Monday night.

Mr. C. C. Taylor who has been ill at his home, corner Third and Waller Streets, is much improved.

Miss Roberta Thornburg and Miss Mary Elizabeth Cook of Huntington, W. Va., will arrive here Friday for a week end visit with Miss Nancy Noyes Grimes, of 1024 Second Street.

Couple Die Within Two Hours Of Each Other; Victims Of Influenza

VANEGBURG, KY., January 31.—(Special to Times)—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bailey died at their home near Concord, Ky., within two hours of each other Wednesday after being ill two days with influenza. Mr. Bailey passed away at four o'clock and Mrs. Bailey at six o'clock.

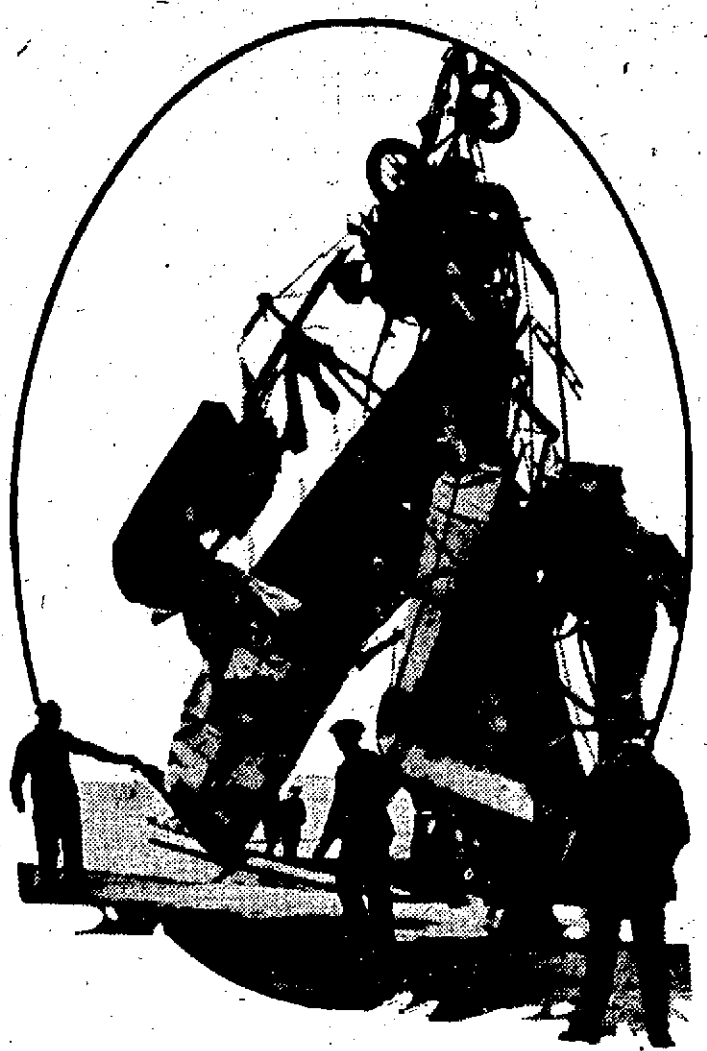

He was 68 years of age and his wife 44. Both were born in Lewis county and were well known in Concord and vicinity. Mr. Bailey had always been a farmer.

Kiwanians Hold "Stunt" Meeting

Wednesday was "stunt day" at the Kiwanian club, although not a member knew of the arrangements until after they had shaken hands with Charles Bierley, head of the receiving line. He left his imprint with each Kiwanian as they entered the portals—many of whom hopped through the affixed portals with the nimbleness of Kansas jack-rabbits. The menu was pre-arranged—milk in cups, peas, wafers, sauerkraut, pie and coffee—and only a knife was the implement of warfare. But he said to the credit of the Kiwanians they got by in elegant shape, many being so proficient in the use of the knife as to be surprised that they have been life long students at that game.

President William Altsman being out of the city, the chair was capably filled by Vice President Frank Appel, who made things move along with all kinds of zest. Thanks to the fact that an honored Rotarian, Pete Landman was on the piano stool, flanked with such splendid vocalists as Chester Riggles, Leo Krieger and Edmund Krieger, the music was great and much appreciated by the assembly. The program was run through thusly: "My Experience as a Sewing Machine Agent," George D. Selby; "What Is Shoddy," St. Strauss; "Part of the Overhead in the Hotel Game," Ed. V. Leach; "The Head-Pin in Insurance," George A. Patton. All in all the meeting was one of the best in the history of the club and entertainment committee is indeed grateful to those who helped to make the affair such a splendid success. More surprises are coming.

Court House

The divorce suit of John Bush, 1134 Eleventh street, barber, against Goldie Bush, 1229 Twelfth street, both colored, was partially heard by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Wednesday and then continued for further pleading when the court appointed Attorney E. G. Miller to represent the defendant as guardian ad litem after it developed that she was but 16 years old.

The wife on the stand in her own behalf accused Bush of associating with other women and she declared that she was induced to marry him in November, 1920, when she was but 14 years old, by John's automobile and diamonds. Bush alleged cruelty, declaring that she drew a pistol and threatened to kill him and claimed that she neglected him and their home for the association of her men. He was represented by Attorney J. T. Mickelthwait.

Hudson seeks Divorce

Elliot Hudson charges infidelity in his suit for divorce and the care and control of their two minor children, instituted in Common Pleas court Wednesday, against Ethel Hudson. In his petition filed through Attorneys Blair and Blair, the plaintiff says that they were married in November, 1920, and claims the defendant has deserted him and their children, who are now in his custody, he says.

Hall at West Union

Deputy Clerk of Courts John W. Hall went to West Union Wednesday to appear as a witness in the trial of a case in the Adams county Common Pleas court. He went as a substitute for Clerk Edward Cunningham who is just recovering from a severe attack of influenza and was unable to make the journey.

Bender Bill Ditched

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—(By the United Press)—The Bender bill to abolish the public utilities commission is as good as dead, it developed today. The senate utilities committee will kill it in the next day or two.

To Appeal Her Case

PARIS, January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Colonel William A. Latta filed an appeal today against yesterday's decision of the first Paris civil court rejecting his suit to prevent the marriage of his daughter, Catherine Louise, to William E. Doeller, an automobile dealer of Columbus, Ohio. The appeal will be heard soon, meanwhile it will be impossible for the wedding to take place.

Advised To Go To Work

Walter Hughes, 105 Bond street, was before the Municipal court Wednesday to answer to a charge of non-support of his two minor children made in a complaint by his wife, Anna Hughes, who lives at the same address.

The wife told the court that Hughes refused to work because he is able to drink liquor, she claimed, and declared that he squandered what little money he did earn for drink. Hughes denied her statement and in granting his request for a continuance until Thursday Judge McCall advised him to get a job and go to work.

COLUMBUS, O., January 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The "padlock" bill which provides that places declared to be a nuisance for violations of the liquor laws must be closed, was passed by the house here today 94 to 4. The bill, introduced by Gordon, of Logan county, is modeled after the Volstead law.

Officer Brown Reports First Robin

Did you feel lazy today? There was a reason. Spring is here! The first robin is a real harbinger. Patrolman Joseph Bouzo, of 1040 Twelfth street, says he saw a robin in his yard.

Entertainment Next Wednesday Evening

The entertainment that is to be provided by the Scottish Rite Club of this city to Masons, their wives, families and sweethearts, will be given at Trinity church on next Wednesday evening, February 7. There seems to be an impression that the entertainment would be given this Wednesday evening. The entertainment will be complimentary, and the Scottish Rite Club is expecting to put on a program that will not only be entertaining, but instructive as well. Masons are asked to watch for an announcement that will be made in these columns when all details will be made public.

Given Transportation To Her Home

Nora Johnson, 18, who was taken into custody by the police as the companion of Thomas Murphy, 32, confessed forger, last Saturday, was ordered released from custody by Judge McCall Tuesday. Being without means, officials took up a collection to pay the transportation of the young woman back to her home in Grafton, W. Va.

LARGE CROWDS, GOOD INTEREST AT U. R. REVIVAL

Last night being Sunday, school night, a large attendance again filled the lower floor of the auditorium at the revival service being conducted at the United Brethren church by the pastor, assisted by Rev. C. M. Sweeney of the Nauvoo church.

Her. Aweary brought a strong message to the Sunday School attendance, on the "Authority of the Word," which was well received by all present. The Sunday School choir, with Miss Ida Frick at the organ, furnished the music for the evening.

In connection with the meetings a Book Counter and Free Literature stand is being conducted and large numbers are availing themselves of the opportunity of obtaining these wonderful helps to the Christian life and Christian living.

Last evening at the close of the service, Mrs. Oille Feitz, 1748 Seventh street, was received into membership, and two were received at the close of the Sunday evening service. Others will be received into membership later.

The members of the committee in charge of the series of dances to be given by the members of the Buckeye Club met last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeVoss on Robinson avenue. During the evening plans were made for the next dance to be held on Friday evening, February 9th. The remainder of the evening was spent socially and later a delicious lunch was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. William N. Gableman, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moreland, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Doerr, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Fletcher and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeVoss.

As a social courtesy to Mrs. Mary Bauman, Mrs. Watkins Kearns and Mrs. Clara Waller, Mrs. Lunsford Haldeman invited enough guests in for two tables of bridge this afternoon at her home, 1301 Gallia street.

The afternoon hours were delightfully whirled away at cards with an elegant lunch in conclusion.

Those taking hands included Mrs. Mary Bauman, Mrs. Watkins Kearns, Mrs. W. H. F. Cadot, Mrs. H. S. Grimes, Mrs. Levi D. York, Mrs. Samuel Gilbert, Mrs. Samuel M. Johnson and Mrs. Lunsford Haldeman.

The following interesting announcements were received here today:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Johnston announce the marriage of their daughter Avis Lucille.

Mr. John Ringo Means, on Saturday the twenty-seventh of January, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, Irouton, Ohio.

At Home after the First of March, Ashland, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. William Boehm, of 1625 Tenth street, announce the birth of a daughter, who has been named Mabel Marie Boehm.

Miss Clara Campbell, of Cincinnati, is visiting at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Boehm, of 1625 Tenth street.

More than fifty members and guests were present at the meeting of the Young People's Society of Bigelow church Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Caroline Mackay, 1214 Ninth street.

The meeting opened with devotion, aided by Mrs. D. A. Berndt. Miss Bessie Marie read a chapter from the Home Study Book, and it was announced that $16 had been added to the treasury of the Society from subscriptions taken for McCall's magazine during the month. Mrs. H. M. Baker also reported $1.10 from the sale of date stamp bread which she served at a last meeting.

Miss Emma Johnston read a letter from the Conference Supply Secretary regarding the two boxes sent by the Young People's society and which were lost in transit. The boxes had not been located as yet. Miss Anna Adams was appointed mite box chairman, while Miss Norma McNeel will have charge of the Christmas club books. Mrs. John Randolph Williams was appointed to take charge of reports of the Home Missionary Society and Mrs. Pearl E. Kelly will report on the Foreign Missionary Society. Miss Effie Johnston was taken in as a new member at last night's meeting.

An attractive and enjoyable feature of the social hour was the Valentine party. The room was beautifully decorated in red hearts and various other novelties suggestive of the season, and an improvised post office was erected in one corner of the room. Here the guests received their mail, which included many pretty valentines from the postmaster in charge. Alternating with every third name called, the postmaster would announce that there was a parcel post package for Miss Mary Chaudier, tried-elect of the society, and in this clever manner Miss Chaudier was the recipient of many pretty gifts for her new home.

Another enjoyable feature of the evening was a guessing contest. The hostesses provided a jar of small white beans and the one guessing the nearest correct number in the jar was awarded a prize. Mrs. Edgar W. Lewis guessed 300, which was just less than the jar contained and she was given the first prize. Mrs. H. M. Baker was given the consolation favor for thinking there were only sixty beans in the jar.

Near the close of the evening Miss Emma Johnston, who was seriously injured last August when the Ford sedan in which she was riding went over the bank on Scioto Trail, is much worse and her relatives and friends are very much alarmed over her condition.

Mrs. Charles D. Millison of 1412 Mound street has returned from Huntington, where she visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ottino former Portsmouth residents.

A box social has been planned for the members of the Eastern Stars, their husbands and sweethearts on Tuesday evening, February 6th at 8:30 in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple. Each lady is asked to prepare a box for two, wrap it and place her name on the outside. The boxes will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. After they have been disposed of partners will be secured by means of the boxes and coffee will be served with the lunch. Another attractive feature of the party will be a Valentine box. Each person attending the party is expected to bring a valentine and drop it in the box provided for that purpose. These will be numbered and passed out according to the numbers. No price set for the Valentines, but no come Valentines will be accepted. This party promises to be one of the most enjoyable ever held by the Eastern Stars and a large attendance is anticipated.

The Craft Twik Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eric Ferguson, 1933 Hutchins street.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Melvin (Alvena Elliott) was the scene of a delightful surprise party last evening when the girls of the fitting room of the Selby Shoe Company, where she was formerly employed, called at her home and gave them an aluminum and kitchen shower. After the presentation of gifts, the remainder of the evening was spent in music, dancing and other social diversions. Later refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to Misses Clara Gregory, Pauline Lordier, Della Russell, Mabel Ray, Rose McMahon, Lillian Rorer, Myrtle Wolford, Mary Dyer, Lorena Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kehoe, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Nurse, Ralph Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Melvin.

All members of Ellrose Temple are invited to attend the banquet to be held at their castle, Fourth and Washington streets, tomorrow evening at six o'clock.

Group three of the Eastern Stars will meet at the Masonic Temple tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barn of Sixth street, had as all day guests Tuesday, Mrs. Clara Martin, of New Boston, and Mrs. Joseph Evans and daughter, Virginia Ruth, of City View, and Mrs. Luther Barn of this city.

Harold Brasie of 1551 Seventh street, who has been employed in the office of the Selby Shoe Company for the past three years, has entered Ohio University, at Athens, for the second semester.

The Dorcas Class of the Franklin Avenue M. E. church will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Fletcher, 2118 Grandview avenue. The annual election of officers will be held at this meeting and all members are urged to be present.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

VELANTRIE from the Border wins LOLA SANCHEZ, who offers herself as stake for BRIDEMAN, man of mystery. Velantrie sends Lola home to her father, then rides on his horse, Comet, to the Mission near Paradise for a visit with his friend.

FATHER HILLIARD.

Val asks her father why he does not enter Redstar in the Fourth of July races at Santa Leandra. Hannon replies that Redstar is too fast.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Funny thing John Hannon hasn't ever lost no cattle. Dyke had said once in Santa Leandra, "when every outfit this side the line, an' further north than us, too, has stood to lose a share each year. What's his magic, I'd like to know?"

And John Hannon had heard the word and when next he met Dyke Atkinson he tapped the two blue guns that swung always at his hips and looked the other hard in the eyes.

"Here's my magic, Dyke," he said evenly. "Want to see me make it?"

And Atkinson looked back as hard.

"Not particularly," he answered.

"But I don't take backwater for what I said. I'd still like to know some things, bein' curious."

"Curiosity killed a cat, once," snapped the boss of Paradise, "an' it ain't lost its power none. I'd hate to have 't' bore you, Dyke—but you'll either keep a careful tongue in your head about me, or draw quicker'n I can."

"An' you know you've got me there," Dyke said hotly. "An' not only me but every man on this here range—an' you use 't' knowledge to bully 't' country with."

He never finished the sentence, for John Hannon flashed a hand, lightning-swift at his hip and shot him where he stood—a fine, clever bit of marksmanship that broke the right arm above the elbow and left Dyke Atkinson maimed for life.

"Shoot me full o' holes!" raved the latter, "sieve me if you want to! But I'm still curious!" which proved him a man of strong mettle, indeed, facing John Hannon's guns.

"I ain't killin' you t'day," said Hannon. "I'm teachin' you a lesson—an' any others that might be—too damned curious."

And he shoved the gun into its holster, turned on his heel and strode away without a backward look.

CHAPTER VI
The Cry of a Desert Owl

"VAL during," said Belle Hannon, groping through a door to the depth and coolness of the great room in which was her daughter's own particular place, "how's the dance dress coming on?"

Val went quickly to meet her and drew her forward to a chair beside the deep slit of the west window. It was a rule of that house that none should pass those outstretched hands.

"Perfectly lovely!" cried the tall girl, "see."

And she snatched a fluff of white from the high-built bed and spread it on her mother's lap.

"There are gathers, little ones, about the neck and a pretty spreading ruffle. The sleeves are short—just a bit above the elbow. The skirt is full and has three little ruffles, too. I shall wear my red silk sash and the Spanish shoes with the red heels that dad brought me last year when he came home from his trip. There are red roses beginning to bloom on the old bush beside the kitchen door and I'll put one of them behind my ear. I have the red feather fan, too."

"Beautiful!" said the woman, her sensitive fingers feeling expertly of the sheer material on her lap, "seeing the make of the garment, you will look like a full-blown rose yourself, Val, I know."

The girl laughed and a small dimple came out in her left cheek just above the lips' corner. Her dark eyes were melting soft at the vision of herself in all this finery.

"You just bet I will," she said serenely, and Belle laughed also.

"In wives, too," laughed the girl as she put the finishing touch to the gauzy white stuff and hung it carefully away behind a curtain against the ancient wall. "I guess we're not some proud family, all right!"

And pride was in Belle Hannon as she rose and went swiftly and sure-footedly away into the northern regions of the house on some business of the mistress among her servants, humming a little soft tune—the pride of the loving heart in the strength and power of those it loves.

Val, clear of the tedious sewing, stretched her young arms, snatched a sombrero from a corner, drew a flannel shirt over her curly head, donned a riding skirt and ran out along the stone floor of the narrow

There was a close camaraderie between these two.

And your father says Boyce Clendenning will be up from El Rio Rancho to run his silver horse."

Instantly Val frowned.

"Funny how dad likes that man," she said, "he thinks the sun rises and sets in him."

"He must be a good man, else your father would not think so," said Belle, quietly, "and isn't he young?"

"Yes."

"And handsome?"

"Yes, he is. Big, blond, heavy-shouldered, and with the smartest eyes I ever saw—except dad's when he's studying some one."

"Boyce Clendenning's got sense, I stake my pile."

"And he's got more than any man of his youth in all this country. The proper word of El Rio Rancho itself makes him rich, not to mention the range he holds."

"All true, Belle dear," said Val, "but just the same I'd rather dance with Billy Smith from the Lazy B, or that Texas boy who rides for Quinlan. And say, say, mamma! but that boy can dance! He's slim as a reed and his feet are like tumble weeds in the wind. I hope he'll be in Santa Leandra this time. Haven't seen him for six months, not since the day I rode with dad after cattle down Arroyo Pecos way."

"Nice boy, of course," said Mrs. Hannon, "but the daughter of the Boss of Paradise must look a little higher than a cowboy, dear. Your father has reached always for the highest, the best in its line, as he says of everything. 'I like it,' he says, 'no matter what it is, because it's the best in its line.' I guess he likes Clendenning because he's the biggest cattleman—after himself—in the country."

"I guess," said Val.

"That's why he loves the Redstar, too—why he's so proud of you, Val, and of Paradise. He's got the best in its line of everything the range-land gives."

"In wives, too," laughed the girl as she put the finishing touch to the gauzy white stuff and hung it carefully away behind a curtain against the ancient wall. "I guess we're not some proud family, all right!"

And pride was in Belle Hannon as she rose and went swiftly and sure-footedly away into the northern regions of the house on some business of the mistress among her servants, humming a little soft tune—the pride of the loving heart in the strength and power of those it loves.

Veranda that edged the house and the patio both.

Three cowboys in dusty clothes were coming in from the corral, Briston the foreman, Dick Hunnmond and Rosy Peters.

At sight of the girl every pair of eyes softened, each lean face broke into a smile.

As if she did not see them Val strode briskly along and bumped into them—saw they, knowing the little trick, leaned in together, making a solid wall of defense in all the weakest wall of defense in all the world against the sweetest assault.

"Oh! I beg your pardon, gentlemen!" cried Val, her lovely eyes wide, "but you're all so small I nearly ran over you!"

"OH! I BEG YOUR PARDON, GENTLEMEN!" CRIED VAL.

Chuckling, the riders passed into the house, for Parita was ringing the big bell that spelled dinner to those within its sound, but Val swung out to the corral and looked among the horses there for Redstar. He was not there, but Redcloud was, trotting restlessly about, his beautiful head tossing, his pasterns springing with every step, pliant as tempered steel.

So, the Boss rode west. And he rode Redstar, of course.

Well, she would take Redcloud—or no—there was Dawnlight drowsing in the sun, belying her name and her nature with seeming meekness. Val caught her up and flung a saddle on her shining back—and the rixen spread her slim legs, drew in a deep breath and lifted her spine a trifle, ready for something when the cinches should tighten up.

But Val Hannon was her father's girl in her utter lack of fear of horse-flesh, in her masterful spirit.

Now she laughed and set a quick knee against the mare's ribs and Jerked the latigo with a practiced hand.

"You would, would you, you pretty wildcat?" she said, "well—well—swell if you want to!"

And she pushed the breath out of Dawnlight's lungs with every pull of the strap.

The high-tempered creature switched her long tail and laid her pointed ears back along her neck and her eyes flashed, but Val put a heavy hand on her hip and set her back with a jump.

In the midst of the action the girl put her foot to the stirrup and went up like a cat. Dawnlight screamed and flung herself sideways, shaking her head, but Val lifted her on the bit and came down with her braided quirt across the shining flanks—and Dawnlight steeled like a lady, prancing out of the corral on all four feet, properly. This was the only one of all the Red Brood who needed discipline.

Once out of the yard and beyond the house with the open plain before her she broke into instant flight and sailed down and away like a bird, a wondrous, easy gait, swift and light and sure, that brought a smile of pleasure to her rider's face and forgiveness for her faults. It was noon and the vast spread of the range country lay clear and sharp beneath the light.

Val rode down between the weathered monuments, left Paradise miles to the north and west, crossed the Little Antelope, where she let the mare drink deep of the brackish water, and came up out of its shallow dip between the scattered cottonwoods that fringed it.

Before her, some three miles off, the gaunt, pale bulk of Rotundo Mission stood boldly out. Val snuffed and struck her heels to Dawnlight's flanks and rode fast toward the ancient landmark.

Father Hilliard stood to greet her in the gate, as he had stood to greet so many, but few corners to Refugio brought with them the joy to light his kindly face that shone there now.

Greb Beats Loughran

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Defending his title as American light heavyweight in a fifteen round bout which went the limit, Harry Greb, of Pittsburg, gained the decision over Tommy Loughran, youthful Philadelphia challenger, at Madison Square Garden last night. The challenger made a cool and clever defense which prevented the champion from doing much damage and the Philadelphia scrapper took the lead in the last two rounds and, after a successful tie-fighter in these seasons, rocking Greb once with a hard right to the jaw.

On Battleship Huron

Cruising about the Orient and visiting the many ports of the Far East, Edward Vernon Conley, son of Mrs. Valeria Hannon, 3014 Rhodes Ave., New Boston, is now a member of the U. S. Marine Guard on the battleship Huron, one of the vessels of the Asiatic Fleet. His name appears on a recent list of Marines attached to that vessel, received at Marine Corps Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Young Conley made his home in Portsmouth before leaving for the West Coast, where he joined the Marines at San Francisco, April 23, 1922. For several months he was stationed at Mare Island, a West Coast training station, later being assigned to duty on the U. S. S. Huron, where the Marines perform guard duties and man the secondary batteries.

After Daylight Saving

HONOLULU, Jan. 31.—The meeting of the Ironton Church League directors and managers was held last evening at Campbell's Clothes Shop.

Leonard Howell, secretary, made a motion that all men who played in the Ironton Church League be required to register before or on the 12th day of March when the annual meeting of the directors will be held. The motion was adopted.

Three members of the league proposed a motion that the directors of the league petition the city council to adopt the daylight saving time plan and thereby provide plenty of time for games to be played. The motion was unanimously adopted.

CINCINNATI AUTO SHOW WILL OPEN FEBRUARY 7

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—There will be none of the noise or disturbance of page boys at Music Hall February 7. In fact, only one other show in the country has equal facilities for handling communications.

Telephones are to be installed in every exhibit at the show and a central switchboard will take care of calls from display to display and of callers at the door who wish to speak to exhibitors. The Boston Show is the only other exposition in the United States which has this convenient feature, and that show heretofore has been considered to be the peer of all others. Even national shows at New York and Chicago are unable to offer such expeditious service.

Adheres To Finding

Attorney Mark Crawford is home from Cincinnati where he appeared in the U. S. District Court seeking the discharge from bankruptcy of George Bernhold. It was refused, Judge Beck adhering to the finding and recommendation of T. C. Booth, Ironton bankruptcy referee, who heard the evidence in the case.

A Real Salesman

Earl Clayton, of this city, district salesman for the Dayton Biscent Company, has been presented with a check for $300 by the firm as a reward for his splendid record in leading the sales force for increased business in 1922.

Val rode down between the weathered monuments, left Paradise miles to the north and west, crossed the Little Antelope, where she let the mare drink deep of the brackish water, and came up out of its shallow dip between the scattered cottonwoods that fringed it.

Before her, some three miles off, the gaunt, pale bulk of Rotundo Mission stood boldly out. Val snuffed and struck her heels to Dawnlight's flanks and rode fast toward the ancient landmark.

Father Hilliard stood to greet her in the gate, as he had stood to greet so many, but few corners to Refugio brought with them the joy to light his kindly face that shone there now.

Greb Beats Loughran

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Defending his title as American light heavyweight in a fifteen round bout which went the limit, Harry Greb, of Pittsburg, gained the decision over Tommy Loughran, youthful Philadelphia challenger, at Madison Square Garden last night. The challenger made a cool and clever defense which prevented the champion from doing much damage and the Philadelphia scrapper took the lead in the last two rounds and, after a successful tie-fighter in these seasons, rocking Greb once with a hard right to the jaw.

On Battleship Huron

Cruising about the Orient and visiting the many ports of the Far East, Edward Vernon Conley, son of Mrs. Valeria Hannon, 3014 Rhodes Ave., New Boston, is now a member of the U. S. Marine Guard on the battleship Huron, one of the vessels of the Asiatic Fleet. His name appears on a recent list of Marines attached to that vessel, received at Marine Corps Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Young Conley made his home in Portsmouth before leaving for the West Coast, where he joined the Marines at San Francisco, April 23, 1922. For several months he was stationed at Mare Island, a West Coast training station, later being assigned to duty on the U. S. S. Huron, where the Marines perform guard duties and man the secondary batteries.

After Daylight Saving

HONOLULU, Jan. 31.—The meeting of the Ironton Church League directors and managers was held last evening at Campbell's Clothes Shop.

Leonard Howell, secretary, made a motion that all men who played in the Ironton Church League be required to register before or on the 12th day of March when the annual meeting of the directors will be held. The motion was adopted.

Three members of the league proposed a motion that the directors of the league petition the city council to adopt the daylight saving time plan and thereby provide plenty of time for games to be played. The motion was unanimously adopted.

CINCINNATI AUTO SHOW WILL OPEN FEBRUARY 7

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—There will be none of the noise or disturbance of page boys at Music Hall February 7. In fact, only one other show in the country has equal facilities for handling communications.

Telephones are to be installed in every exhibit at the show and a central switchboard will take care of calls from display to display and of callers at the door who wish to speak to exhibitors. The Boston Show is the only other exposition in the United States which has this convenient feature, and that show heretofore has been considered to be the peer of all others. Even national shows at New York and Chicago are unable to offer such expeditious service.

Adheres To Finding

Attorney Mark Crawford is home from Cincinnati where he appeared in the U. S. District Court seeking the discharge from bankruptcy of George Bernhold. It was refused, Judge Beck adhering to the finding and recommendation of T. C. Booth, Ironton bankruptcy referee, who heard the evidence in the case.

A license to wed was granted to William E. Cummins and Mary Peterson, both of the eastern part of the county.

Imbued with the "get even" spirit, a man known as "Silver Tube Joe," shot and injured Eddie and Charles Burns, former Portsmouth citizens, at St. Louis, Mo. The shooting was an echo of some trouble which occurred in this city two years before when "Silver Tube Joe" got in a row in the Burns saloon and was knocked down with a club by Charley Burns. He then swore he would get even with the Burns brothers. If it too blue years to do it.

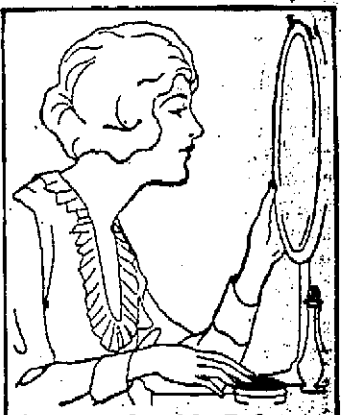

The Jones building on Chillicothe street, formerly occupied by Heer Bros., was rented to a big general merchandise and house furnishing goods house, the new firm having stores in Zanesville, Coshocton, Urbana and other cities. The manager of the new store was J. C. Ellory, of Ulichsville.

BY McMANUS

New York By Day And Night

BY JACK HOOD

The making of phonograph records has always been a source of great wonder to me and I have long since promised myself never to let an opportunity pass of observing the process of recording. It so happens that our sales of Regal records at Anderson's has been so phenomenal that in addition to other merchandise for which I came to New York to buy, records have been added.

Through the courtesy of Emil Schenkel, the genial advertising manager of the Regal Record Co., and Mr. Baum, the manager in charge of the laboratory I was permitted to witness the recording of a record which was made by Irving Kaufman. I don't suppose there is a person in Portsmouth who has not heard a Kaufman record for he has been making records for various companies for thirteen years, has a most wonderful tenor voice and is one of the most likeable fellows you could meet anywhere. But the surprise one gets upon entering the laboratory is that he is not the artist in dress suits and on their dignity like you perhaps picture them when you listen to your favorite records for the singer and the ten members of the accompanying orchestra were nearly all in their shirt sleeves. Mr. Kaufman even having his collar and tie off, his hair disheveled and working like a good fellow.

The ten pieces in the orchestra were all grouped around the big ends of several horns the little ends of which extended through the wall into another room and were connected to the recording machine. I said the artists appeared rather negligé—well that is hardly fair to one man, the director of the orchestra who through it all, no doubt from constant appearance before the public, never took his coat off nor even removed his eyeglasses to which was fastened a conspicuous black ribbon and never once did his dignity disappear.

My visit to the studio explained one thing to me and that is the reason why Regal Records are so popular. It is because so much care is taken in their making. First the orchestra and Mr. Kaufman would render one verse of the song. Then that would be played and trained ears of the artists would detect the defects. This fiddle was too close, that horn too loud, the piano not plain enough, the saxophone too far away, etc. Then the orchestra or certain pieces would be rearranged and another trial made. This not only occurred once but many times when to me, a layman, the thing sounded all right the first time. This process was carried on until the recording was pronounced perfect and every little curly-cue just right; then three recordings were made of it. That is, the orchestra and Irving Kaufman had to give the entire number three separate times after it had been rated perfect.

It was really amusing to stand back and watch the performance, especially to see the singer duck down under the floor and hold a bigger horn for the orchestra to play into at an interlude and then crowd his way back between a violin and saxophone in time to begin singing again.

The original record is apparently of wax and is about an inch thick. The laboratory is situated way up high in one of the Broadway skyscrapers above the noises of the street where the horn of a tin Lizzie could not make a record say "Silver Threads Among the Gold—honk, honk."

After the record was made, I, together with the artist and manager at the studio pronounced it a dandy and if you are skeptical, just wait a few weeks until "Honeymoon Time" by Irving Kaufman comes out on the Regal Record and you too will say it's not only the prettiest of songs but one of the best records you ever heard.

Men's Chorus Feature Of Community Concert

Is there any lover of music who does not enjoy a male chorus? One of the most attractive features of the concert to be given on next Tuesday night by the Community Chorus will be the selections given by the men of the chorus. Twenty-five voices will sing first a sixteenth century chorus in Latin from the Roman Liturgy, unaccompanied. This will be followed by a miscellaneous group of three-rollicking glee, "The Winter Song," by Bullard, a part arrangement of that familiar old Welsh air, "All Through the Night" with the melody in the deep second bass and concluding the men's group. Dudley Buck's spirited and fiery chorus, "On the Sea." Tickets may be secured at the Kay-Graham Music store or from any member of the chorus.

"Tess Of The Storm Country" Tomorrow

The Jack Ball Stock Co. is again making a hit with their attraction "Tess Of The Storm Country" which closes tonight's performance. Starting with the usual Thursday bargain matinee tomorrow, a revival of "Tess of the Storm Country" Rupert Hughes great comedy drama is the bill for three days. At the present time, Mary Pickford is appearing in a revised screen version of this same play. It was during her other picture of "Tess of the Storm Country" that one critic named Miss Florence Lewin.

"The Mary Pickford of the spoken drama" in the role of "Tessie Skinner" the little squatter girl. Another feature of the performances this last three days is the fact that Mr. George Whitaker, leading man of the stock company created the part of "Frederick Graves" the minister with the original production and has since that time played the role over one thousand times and holds a record envied by almost every stock leading man.

Seats are now selling fast for the forthcoming hit "East is West."

SCIOTO COUNTY CORN GROWERS WIN PRIZES AT FARMERS' WEEK MEET

Frank Appel and Overturn Winners Charles Frank, Charles Appel and R. P. Overturn are among the prize winners at the State Corn and Grain Show now in progress at the Ohio State University in connection with Farmers' Week in Columbus.

In the ten ear entry of white corn for the southeastern division, Mr. Appel took third prize, Mr. Appel fourth and Mr. Overturn fifth place. In the one bushel entry open to members of the One Hundred Bishel Corn Club only Mr. Overturn was seventh and Mr. Appel eighth.

County Farm Agent W. F. Gahn writes that the corn and grain show is bigger and better than ever before, competition keen and that Scioto county should be proud of the winnings of her representatives. Mr. Gahn also writes that with a little more training in the selection of seed corn Scioto county farmers can compete with the best corn producers in the United States.

A big help in this will be a bigger and better corn show at Lucasville with the farmers think of it more as an educational feature than a competitive one.

Ohio River Is Falling

After reaching a peak mark of 37.3 feet in the Portsmouth district, the Ohio river started to recede here and at all points above, late Tuesday and the stream had dropped back to a stage of 36.8 feet this morning when the water continued to fall. The "Y" road was not submerged as the water when at its highest only reached a level with the roadway and at times waves would splash over the paving in the low places.

Boat movements Wednesday included the Greenwood, which cleared at 7:30 a. m. for Cincinnati, Andes up at 2:00 p. m. bound for Pomeroy, and General Wood up at 4:00 p. m. for Pittsburgh.

Mr. Bragdon Talks To Exchangeites

L. W. Bragdon was the principal speaker at the Exchange Club meeting at the Mary Louise last night. Mr. Bragdon told of his experiences in a recent tour of Turkey and the Holy Land, and described places of interest throughout the parts of Europe and Asia he visited. Constantinople, Jerusalem, Damascus, and other places.

Next Tuesday Dr. Ross Hopkins of the Ohio State Public Health Service will be the speaker. Dr. Hopkins will speak on public health questions, and will give special attention to the public health question as it pertains to the schools.

Three New Members
Three new members were added to the membership roll of Delta Camp Royal Neighbors, last night when they met in K. of P. Hall, Fourth and Washington streets.

Mrs. Catherine Buchett was received by initiation, while Mrs. Elmer Elwell and Mrs. Bertha Scott were received on transfers from Progressive Camp, this city.

Several candidates are to be initiated at next week's meeting. Doughnuts and coffee were served at last night's meeting.

Tremaine vs Curtis
Carl Tremaine of Cleveland and Johnny Curtis, two of the best bats in the ficat realms will clash in a 32 round bout in Cleveland in two weeks.

Move To City
Mr. and Mrs. William Waller, of Navroo, have moved to Portsmouth.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets Are Just The Thing For The Medium And Stout Figure

The special steelastic webbing belt over the too prominent abdomen holds it flat, and the re-enforced back and sides straighten and slenderize the hips.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets withstand wear and keep their shape, combining these qualities with style, beauty and comfort. They fit when they are new, and they do not stretch. They retain their beautiful lines longer than any other corset, because they are extra strong where the greatest strain comes — over the abdomen and hips. This is good news to the medium stout or stout woman who is "hard" on corsets and who frequently has to discard half-worn corsets because they have lost their shape.

The long wearing qualities of Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets earn for them the enviable reputation of "The most economical reducing corsets ever devised for women of stout and medium build."

They will outwear several pairs of ordinary reducing corsets. This particularly appeals to the stout woman who has been accustomed to replacing stretched or broken corsets several times in a single season.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets will hold their perfect style lines until thoroughly worn out — most women discard their older Rengo Belt garments only when the style changes.

Rengo Belt Corsets $3, $4, $5, $6.50 and $7.00.

Acute and Chronic Ailments

Until the discovery of Chiropractic there was no certain way of knowing what was the CAUSE of our many ailments, neither was it known how to get rid of them.

Whatever the nature of the malady you suffer with, it is due to pressure on nerves along the sides of the backbone. This pressure interferes with nerve function; hence, inflammation, pain, and distress are manifested in whatever part of organ is supplied by the nerves.

The cut shows a section of the Backbone and how the nerves become impinged and cause disease, such as Headaches, Ears, Nose and Throat troubles, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis, Heart and Lung Troubles, Rheumatism, Liver, Stomach, Gall Stones, Kidney trouble, Appendicitis, Constipation, Female trouble and others too numerous to mention. Welsh Concert Here Tonight

Music lovers of Portsmouth will be accorded a rare treat to night when the Dinevor Welsh Concert Company gives a program in the High School auditorium under the auspices of James Dickey Post, No. 23, American Legion. The advance sale of reserved seats assures a good attendance, but many good seats are left and may be obtained at the high school tonight. The concert begins at 8:15 sharp. The Dinevor Welsh Concert singers are high class artists who are sure to present a most pleasing program. The Mountain Ash. Choir presented a concert here about two years ago which made a decided hit. The Dinevor Company presents a similar program and all who heard the M.A. Choir will no doubt turn out tonight.

Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, January 31.—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular. California Petroleum opened 1 1/4 higher on overnight announcement of the declaration of an initial quarterly dividend of $1.75. Selling of steel shares reflected the speculative community's disappointment over the earnings statement of the United States Steel Corporation for the last quarter of 1922. U. S. Steel Common and Crucible each dropping one point.

The early demand for railroad shares centered in Delaware and Hudson, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Chicago and Northwestern and Illinois Central, all up 1/2 to 3/4. But heading second preferred dropped 1/2 and St. Paul and New Haven yielded fractionally. Steel and Tube preferred was pushed up 2 1/2 points. Brooklyn Union Gas 2 1/2. Interborough Rapid Transit 1 1/2 and Pan American B. 1. Equipments were supplied rather freely. Baldwin and Pressed Steel Car each dropping a point and American Locomotive 1 1/2. Coppers also were heavy, American Smelting dropping a point and Utah 3/4. Columbia Gas declined 1/4. Foreign exchanges were weak. French francs dropping to 6.55 cents or only 15 points above the extreme low record of 5.70 established in November 1920. German marks were quoted at $20 a million or 500 for a cent.

Renewed weakness of the foreign exchanges which served to increase the uncertainty over the immediate effect on prices. Further pressure against steel shares carried U. S. Steel common down 1 1/2 points to 104 1/2. There were a few strong spots but buying of those shares failed to halt the liquidation and short selling elsewhere. Railroad issues which had been strong earlier in the week succumbed with the rest, but with the exception of $500 which dropped 3/4 points and Union Pacific which dropped one, the losses were limited to fractions. However, Illinois Central and Atlantic Coast Line advanced one each. Fisher Body broke five points to 75 and Royal Dutch, which has been under pressure for several days, dropped 2 1/2. California Petroleum, one of the few strong spots, advanced 2 points. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Chillicothe Loan Office Is Robbed; Proprietors Gagged

CHILICOTHE, O., Jan. 31.—Three bandits late Tuesday afternoon held up and robbed the Southern Loan Office of jewelry, consisting mostly of watches, valued at between $400 and $500, bound and gagged the proprietor A. Dearlimer and a patron, Gilbert Cooper, locked the door and escaped.

The robbery was not discovered for several hours. Dearlimer and Cooper managed to untie each other and made known their predicament to outsiders by hammering on the door. Chief of Police Charles Fox notified surrounding cities to be on the lookout for the bandits.

The local police were notified of the holdup about five o'clock yesterday afternoon and were furnished with a meagre description of the men. They were said to have all been young, slender, and well dressed. All wore light overcoats and left the scene of the robbery in a machine.

The Southern Loan Co. was formerly operated by J. L. Bruffman a brother of Jos. Bruffman, who operates a pawn shop on Chillicothe Street, near Eighth.

STATE OFFICER WILL PROBE FIRE

The deputy state fire marshal who arrived here Tuesday to investigate the fire at the Tom Buck farm on Slab Run, Saturday night, expects to remain here several days in an effort to find some clue that may lead to the arrest of the person believed guilty of setting fire to the barn. He may also investigate the setting off of a charge of dynamite under the main house several days in an effort to find some clue that may lead to the arrest of the person believed guilty of setting fire to the barn.

BIRTHS

Paul Jr., is the name given to the son born late Tuesday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Davidson (Julia Dragan) of 1601 Fourth street.

OBITUARY

William Edward Emmett
Coming as a relief to intense suffering, death at 9:40 o'clock this morning claimed William Edward Emmett at his late home, 942 Second street. He had been suffering for the past few months from asthmatic heart trouble, and despite all that loving hands could do to relieve him, his condition was such that the final summons came as a welcome visitor.

Mr. Emmett was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Emmett, and was born and spent virtually all of his life in this city. He formerly conducted a livery line to the various depots, and had an extensive acquaintance with the traveling public that came to Portsmouth, his genial disposition, and desire to give service, winning favor with all who knew him. While of a retiring disposition, he yet had the faculty of making and retaining friends, and the news of his death will bring sincere regret to many.

Surviving relatives include his brother Frank, and three sisters, Anna, Nellie and Alice, all living at the home, 942 Second street.

The funeral services will be conducted from the home at 2:30 Friday afternoon. Rev. Wm. H. Gleason, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will conduct the last rites. Interment will be in Greenlawn.

William Hiltbrand

William Hiltbrand of Sandy Springs, who died suddenly at his home Tuesday evening, Jan. 23, was born Dec. 26, 1850. He was united in marriage to Miss Hattie Riggs in 1884. She passed away in 1897. To this union were born two sons, Floyd and Carl. Floyd and his two children, George William and Mary Katherine, and two brothers, William of Concord, Ky., and Daniel Hiltbrand of Springfield, O. survive. Carl was a soldier of the Rainbow Division and died as a hero of the World War in France. Several months ago his remains were brought to Sandy Springs for burial.

Mr. Hiltbrand has been in good health. He arose early the morning of his death and went out to see about his farm work. On his return to the house he complained of being sleepy and he lay down to rest. Later he awoke finding that he was breathing hard, went to him and found he was in a stupor. He called in neighbors who found Mr. Hiltbrand dead on their arrival at his side.

His death came as a great shock to his legion of friends and relatives. Mr. Hiltbrand had united with the M. E. church at the age of 15 years. He had been a very active member, being very attentive to the Sunday school and all other church work. The body was taken to the home of his son Floyd of Buena Vista and the funeral service was held in the M. E. church of Buena Vista Thursday afternoon. Rev. George O'Neal had charge of the funeral services. Interment was in the cemetery at Sandy Springs.

Mrs. Lena Dolch

Relatives and friends have received word of the death of Mrs. Lena Dolch, a former well known resident of Portsmouth, who passed away recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Katie Black, Burbank, Calif. She left Portsmouth about thirty-five years ago.

Mrs. Emma Brown, of New Boston, is a daughter-in-law. Mrs. Katie Dolch, of Portsmouth, a sister-in-law, and Mrs. L. E. McGinnis, of Sciotoville, Emerson Dole, of New Boston, and Mrs. Carrie Chamberlain, of Wheelersburg, were grandchildren of the deceased.

Mrs. Thomas Wynne

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Hawk of Second street, left Wednesday for Summit Station, Ohio, near Columbus, where Mrs. Hawk's stepmother, Mrs. Thomas Wynne passed away Tuesday.

Mrs. Helen V. Dodd

Death, Tuesday evening, claimed Mrs. Helen Virginia Dodd, wife of E. H. Dodd, of 1204 Harrison avenue, New Boston. She was ill only two days with influenza and complications. The deceased was 34 years of age.

Mrs. Dodd was born at Goreda, W. Va., and before marriage was

THE IRONTON SUNDAY REGISTER

THE first number of the Ironton Sunday Register lies on our desk, and it is a credit to the ability and energy of our old friend in the newspaper game, Editor John B. Coates. The paper is complete, with telegraphic, local and feature news. It shows evidence of hard work, and thoughtful editing, and is a credit to Ironton. The Register, under the management of Mr. Coates and Miss Moore, business manager, has made great strides during the past few years and it really is a most complete newspaper. We wish to extend our good wishes to the Register and its staff and to wish their success in their forward step. It is always a pleasure to note the fact that one's friends are alive to opportunity and are making good.

IN A TRANCE

AN extraordinary case comes over the telegraph wire from Phoenix, Ariz. Two doctors and a coroner pronounce George W. Stevenson dead. But Stevenson's family and friends refuse to permit burial. They believe he is alive in the peculiar state of suspended animation known as catalepsy.

So rests the Stevenson case, as this is written. Remarkable case, you comment? Yet Hudson, celebrated psychic investigator, learned that there is at least one such case of suspended animation each week in the United States. Washington Irving Bishop, famous mind-reader, on several occasions went into a cataleptic state and dumfounded physicians by coming out of his trance after they had pronounced him dead. There is reason to believe that an autopsy finally was performed on him during one of his trances.

Hudson, writing 31 years ago, recorded this case: "A lady, aged 40, at the head of one of the largest orphan asylums in a western city has been twice pronounced dead by attending physicians, twice prepared for the grave, and twice re-animated by her friends. On the last occasion, extraordinary precautions were taken, in view of her former experience. Vigorous treatment restored her to consciousness."

"Upon being restored, the lady declared that she had never for a moment lost consciousness, that she knew all that went on around her, perfectly comprehended the significance of all the treatment which was applied, but felt the utmost indifference as to the result, and was neither surprised nor alarmed when it was decided that she was dead."

According to this, death may not be as unpleasant an experience as most of us fear.

Catalepsy has always been the greatest of medical mysteries. In the old days, many cataleptics probably were buried alive. That fate is an extremely remote possibility now, for science has made great strides in death tests.

This peculiar condition of suspended animation, in which even the heart apparently ceases to function, is extremely rare. It may follow a long period of illness or nervous exhaustion, as a complete rest and recuperation for the exhausted body.

Again, catalepsy is a hypnotic phenomenon, and it may be brought about by hypnosis. It is a weird subject, and our purpose in discussing it is to emphasize the dangers that may overtake amateur dabblers in hypnosis. The warning is timely, for a wave of hypnosis apparently is getting under way, as the logical successor of interest in autosuggestion—self-hypnosis.

The theory that a bull is not maddened by seeing red will not encourage many persons to remain long enough to discuss the psychology of the matter with the bull.

BY CONDO

"I'M A STRANGER HERE, SIR, AND I'M A CRANK FOR GOOD GRUB. CAN YOU DIRECT ME TO A PLACE WHERE I CAN GET A FIRST-CLASS MEAL?"

"AT A PLACE, RIGHT UP THIS WAY A HALF A BLOCK. THEY HAVE WHAT I CONSIDER VERY GOOD EATS AND THEIR RATES ARE MODERATE, TOO."

"THANK YOU, SIR!"

"THANK YOU, SIR!"

They were forced to deal with the backbreaking rain and cold. One night recently a Sixth Avenue lunch 1 set at a table near the courtly cashier. He was reading Gaster. Under the glaring mercury lights his fine features and aristocratic head stood out like a rare old canvas amid a group of chroniclers.

Outside it was storming and business was slack. Confessions were easy. Once he was the head of a manufacturing concern of no little importance. He did not keep pace with modern inventions and his rivals left him far behind. In the end—penury.

"There are hundreds like myself in a great city," he said. "The younger generation found us asleep at the switch. No matter how great a business we built up, we ended in failure and that blinds any employer to the years of success. Night, cashing offers us a living and a way to do old acquaintances. We sleep while they are awake."

Most of us, at heart, are romanticists. The rough life is appealing just so long as we don't have to live it. I know a fair lady who goes to the edge of the sea at dusk to watch the staggering waves beat against a grounded ship that is slowly battering to pieces. She likes to drift with the fog into strange ports on the other side of the world. Yet on an ocean liner this summer a sailor sprang near her deck chair and she rushed to her cabin to see if her life preserver was in working order.

I never see a rodeo without after thoughts of riding the purple sage and picture myself leaping from a wild mustang and "bull-dogging" a steer with one hand while rolling a cigarette with the other. And the other day while walking in the country in Westchester county at dark I ran into a barnless cow. I did 200 yards in nothing flat and if the lady cow had "moored" enroute I would not be here writing this.

That the young scion of one of America's richest families gave a New York chorus girl a $50,000 check for Christmas seems to be a certainty. His name has all but been printed in every New York paper. Last summer there were many rumors that the young man's wife was living in Paris to get a divorce but later they were refuted. It so happens that, due to my connection at the time with a celebrated musical show, I have seen the inmate at close range. I remember one of her girl cronies speaking of her as "a good natured little fat-head—but dumb!" O for the crying out loud.

The Red Moon

A red moon high in the sky, and the air
 Spiced with the tang of fennel;
 Restless horses astir in the stalls,
 And the fox hounds' whine in the kennel—

There's a hunting horn, swinging
 Against the wall
 With the dust of the years encrusted;
 There are boots and a crop and roweled spurs,
 And the spurs are dull and rusted.

The horses are gone, and the dogs are gone,
 And the kennel gates hang idle.
 The empty stable holds useless gear—
 Dog whips, saddle and bridle.

Yet never a red moon high in sky
 Slopes over me beckoning, gliding
 But my heart goes out with the vanished pack
 And the huntsmen riding—rid—ing—

He was walking his wife along a city street looking for a place to eat in. They approached a handsome restaurant with a sign before the door saying: 'Lunch 12 to 2, 50 cents.' The old lady never dreamed of stopping before such a fine place, but her stingy husband held her up. 'We'll go in there,' he said reflectively. 'It's a bad bargain, Hamur—three hours' steady eating' for half a dollar."—The Argonaut (San Francisco).

 "My wife," observed Henry Kleever, "is one in a million. She gets up in the morning, milks seven cows and gets breakfast for ten hard-workin' hungry men before 6 o'clock."

"She must be a very robust woman," said a stranger from the city. "That's the funny part. She's sickly and delicate-like. If that woman work she couldn't do."

GOOD MANNERS
 WITHIN 10 days after departure from a house party or other visit to the home of another, be sure to send to your hostess a letter expressing appreciation of the hospitality extended to you. It is also good form to dispatch to her a book, a box of candy, a gift of flowers or other small token of an appropriate sort.

Why the Restaurant Failed
 "That brilliant and erratic novelist, the late Edgar Saltus, despised politicians. "When a politician," he once said in his Madison Square apartment, "does or says a good and generous thing it is always an accident, a mistake. The politician in this is like the sluff farmer. He was walking his wife along a city street looking for a place to eat in. They approached a handsome restaurant with a sign before the door saying: 'Lunch 12 to 2, 50 cents.'
